

POLICE NEED NEW CAR

Chief Skoog in his report to Arlington Heights village board Monday evening, stressed the need of a new police car. The police committee will meet this week and consider ways and means to finance the car without the use of current village funds. The police equipment fund has $200 on hand which could be used.

BECKER RETIRES AS HEALTH OFFICER

August Becker has retired as health officer, made necessary by his removal from Arlington Heights. Mayor Goedke appointed A. C. Wilcox to the position with a clear understanding that there are no fees to the officer other than the $150 yearly salary.

MEALS FOR PRISONERS ARE $13 FOR YEAR

Among the bills okayed for payment was one of $13.24 in favor of Hrdlicka's restaurant for feeding prisoners. There has not been any sudden influx of "guests" at the village houseguest. The bill covers over a year. The board asked employees contracting bills to be sure that they are presented monthly.

The finance committee meets regularly on the Friday evening previous to every regular board meeting at which time only, will bills be considered.

MEMBERS GIVEN A BIT OF HOME WORK

Mayor Goedke gave the members of the village board a bit of home work Monday evening. More and more people who purchase property adjoining the village are inquiring about possibilities of using village water and sewer. "Sooner or later," stated Mr. Goedke, "the board must officially adopt some rule governing such petitions from the individual property owner."

An ordinance regulating the annexation of subdivisions specifies a per acre fee of $275 for sewer and $40 for water. In addition to such a fee, the mains would have to be installed under the direction of the village at the expense of property owners. The ordinance says nothing about small lot owners.

The board members will study the latter problem at home and have their answers ready when called upon by "Teacher" Goedke.

ASKS FOR PRIVATE SEWER

Wm. Kellogg who owns 25 acres north of Fredrick street, east of State road, within the village, is asking for sewers in order that he may develop part of the property. Mr. Kellogg who received an indirect assessment for sewer, is entitled to connections and the street and sewer committee will study the manner in which it can be done at no expense to the municipality.

WILL GET HARD BOILED WITH WELL CONTRACTOR

Millageer Well Drilling Co., contractors for the new deep well, will discover this week that drinking water for Arlington Heights people is as important as the Buick munitions plant. They are employed on at the latter and are doing nothing about finishing the well here.

The situation is becoming serious. Two of the local wells were out of operation at the same time the other day. Arlington Park Jockey club has been very lenient with the village, but the use of excess water supply can not go on forever.

The village board decided Monday night to notify the bonding company that unless work is resumed at once, it will be expected to complete the well.

The northside pump has been "doctored" for the last time until needed repairs are made. The east side pump will be back in service with a new pump by the end of the week.

ALDERMAN FRANKIE KNOCKS A HOME RUN

Alderman Frankie is not even going to put in a bill for cigars to the village, but it was either the box of cigars he took along to Springfield the other day or his persuasive ways that convinced the state highway department that it was not really necessary to have a stop sign south of the railroad on State road. The village board considers such a sign would be a detriment to traffic, which is protected by the gates and the privilege of north-bound traffic making a right hand turn against the red light.

If the state highway department had its way, all north and south lights would turn red on the approach of a train, which would mean that commuters hurrying to the train would be stalled north of the highway.

ROUTINE REPORTS

Owing to the illness of Wm. Luehring, some of the routine reports were missing but each chairman reported verbally. June motor sales tax allotment to Arlington is $1,250.83. The treasurer's office was given permission to purchase a 16-inch carriage electric forms-writer with immediately delivery in place of the 12-inch carriage, previously ordered which are being taken exclusively by the government.

Monthly bills totaled $3,043.27. Included in the latter are the quarterly salary payments to the members of the board.

The nurse's room has been redecorated and the police office will be similarly treated.

Prospect Heights to have its own postoffice

Own postoffice to open in 30 days; Galbraith postmaster

Prospect Heights is to have its own postoffice. Hugh Galbraith has received his commission as postmaster. The office will be located in the rear of the drug store, and will be equipped with lock boxes which will enable any patron to call for his mail during the hours that the drug store is open.

Mail will be received and dispatched twice daily to and thru Mt. Prospect. Mr. Galbraith is in hopes that the office will be in actual operation within thirty days. An advertisement appears in this issue asking for bids for the temporary handling of mail between Prospect Heights post office, the Mt. Prospect R. R. station and Mt. Prospect post office.

A post office for Prospect Heights has been one of the goals of its developers, Smith and Dawson, ever since the first home was erected on their property. In this day the United States postal department is hesitant about authorizing a postoffice for any community that is not located on a railroad line. Many such communities are losing their postoffices and being served by rural routes.

It was not easy for Smith and Dawson to convince the postal department that an exception should be made for Prospect Heights which had ceased to be a community development and has become a village of itself. Homer J. Byrd, democratic committeeman of Wheeling township and congressman Schuetz endorsed the postoffice and secured the appointment of the proprietor of the drug store as Prospect Heights' first postmaster.

There are 256 families residing in Prospect Heights. Thirty-two houses are under construction today and seventeen more are waiting approval of the F. H. A. loans. Construction has been started on the erection of four additional store buildings, which will be rented to business lines not now represented in the village. The main office of Smith & Dawson will be moved to Prospect Heights in September.

Eight horses lost in stable fire

Eight horses were known to be lost in a stable fire north of Morton Grove Tuesday afternoon.

The stables, those of Karl Meyer's riding academy, were burned to the ground Tuesday shortly after noon when the Glenview, Skokie and Morton Grove fire departments were called.

All but eight or nine of the forty or fifty horses in the barn were rescued but the quick blaze trapped the others. Action by the fire departments saved the adjoining house.

August Becker building home in Barrington

August Becker is leaving Arlington Heights for Barrington. August recently sold his home here and is building a new house in Barrington. The Becker homestead on north Chestnut is being remodeled into a two flat. Mr. Becker has resided in Arlington Heights a great many years. During the early days of the automobile he was engaged in that trade. In 1908 he was one of three people in Arlington Heights who owned an auto.

He served Arlington as health officer many years. He was a city dad and had a more or less prominent part in civic affairs the earlier part of the century.

Anton Zeman moved last week from Chicago to his new home on Schoenbeck road, Wheeling township. He became a regular subscriber to the Herald this week. "Your paper sold us," were the words of Mrs. Zeman when she called at the publication office. "We read your paper at a neighbor's home last week. It was so good we wanted it."

The present period extends until September 27.

Public school to have village rating; with change in name

Wheeling Center school, district 23, will hereafter be known as Prospect Heights public school. Before making the change the board of education made a survey among parents of the rural districts who now have children in school. Today there are only seven pupils from neighboring farms, while the total enrollment of the school was 73 last year, the great majority coming from Prospect Heights.

The board of education has made other changes for the coming year made necessary by the heavy enrollment. Grades one to six inclusive will receive instruction in the school at intersection of Schoenbeck and Palatine roads. Grades seven and eight will be transported to Mt. Prospect public school, the transportation and tuition being paid by the Prospect Heights school.

The total enrollment of the school, five years ago when the Prospect Heights development began, was 17 pupils. The original school house replaced two years ago was in use 78 years.

The board of education of the school district is comprised of a president and six members of the board, one of whom acts as secretary. They are: William G. Lancaster, Jr., president; Edw. F. Mueller, secretary; Frank J. Raupp, Homer C. Torreyson, James M. Nielsen, Carl K. Stehman, Stephen J. Schramek.

Infant conference called next week

For mothers of children under two years of age the Arlington Heights Public Health committee will hold its regular Infant Conference next Tuesday, from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. at the Arlington Heights Health Center, Wing and Vail st.

It was stressed by the committee that even well babies need to see a physician regularly so that their physical development may be checked, any abnormal conditions noted, and outlines suggested for proper diet, correct eating habits, and healthful daily routines. Where there is no regular family physician, mothers of children in this group are especially urged to attend.

Dr. H. O. Meisenheimer will be in charge of the conference, assisted by Mrs. Adele Pino, community nurse.

Mental telepathy travels 2000 miles

Mayor DePue of Palatine, was somewhere between Banff and Champion, Alberta, Canada. His son, Albert, was in Palatine with a hurry-up message for his dad. He had learned in the office of the village clerk E. P. Steinbrink that the Mayor return by the 11th, instead of the contemplated 12th. It took Albert ten minutes to return to the DePue office and put thru the long distance 2,000 mile call to a store owned by a relative at Champion.

During those ten minutes the mayor and his wife were discussing where they would go. Mrs. DePue wanted to return to the residence, Mr. DePue had one of his uncanny hunches that he should go to the store.

As Albert in Palatine asked over the phone, "has my dad arrived from Banff?" he was told, "wait a minute, he is coming into the store right now."

The mayor was one day ahead of schedule, and will be back in Palatine by the 11th.

O'Brien of the University of Notre Dame will be the speaker at a public meeting sponsored by the Arlington Heights chapter of the America First committee, to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, Aug. 15, in the Arlington Heights fieldhouse.

Father O'Brien spoke at a previous America First meeting held May 8 in Arlington Heights, and a capacity crowd was on hand to hear him. At that time he discussed "Should the United States of America Become Involved in the war Now Raging in Europe?" His talk next week will be on a similar subject.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Three minutes of hail destroyed Mich. fruit crop

Rev. Fricke, pastor of Arlington Heights Lutheran church, returned from his vacation this year, the latter part of which was spent with his brother at Benton Harbor, Mich., where the fruit crop was destroyed five weeks ago by a three minute hail storm. The outlook prior to the storm was for a bumper crop. The fruitmen are afraid that even their trees are partially destroyed.

The first week of Rev. Fricke's vacation was spent at the new Lutheran retreat at Wautoma, Wis., where there are fourteen cottages with all modern improvements. Rev. Fricke enjoyed excellent fishing. Part of the Fricke vacation was spent at Hansen cottage at Cedar Lake, Ind.

Ginger Forrest, aged 8 and her sister Carol, aged 2, have returned home from a seven weeks tour of the west that included a memorable visit to Hollywood. Accompanying their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forrest, 117 S. Walnut, they were guests of the 20th Century Fox Films, a privilege that comes to very few these days. As winners of the Underwood & Underwood photo contest last winter they found a big welcome. They personally met Betty Grable and Laird Cregar, watching them work in a coming picture, entitled "Hot Spot." They had lunch with these and Linda Darnell.

The Forrests took a leisurely trip by air. Among the places where they spent some time were Salt Lake City, San Rafael, San Francisco, Oakland and Santa Barbara. They were making snow balls at Rock Mountain National Park ten days ago.

Collectors open offices; taxes due

The township collectors are opening their offices this week for the collection of the second installment of the 1940 real estate tax.

Collectors William Annen of Wheeling and Albert Kraemer of Elk Grove townships open their offices Thursday. Collector Tom Hart of Palatine township opened his office the first of the week.

The town collectors will have until Saturday, Aug. 23 to make their collections so all property owners should try to visit their home collector before that date.

Anyone who has not paid his first installment on personal property bill may also leave those with the home collectors who will take them in to the county office for their patrons.

Arlington Heights village board

Arlington Heights village board went on record Monday evening for a government owned post office building. Admitting that Uncle Sam may be too busy at the present moment to authorize the structure, members of the village board are of the opinion that it is not too early to ask for it.

This community has been "on the postoffice building list" for a number of years. With the erection of new buildings in such places as Des Plaines and Park Ridge, Arlington's place should be nearer the top.

The business of the local postoffice has reached a level that entitles the community to a government building. Mayor Goedke and the members of the village board are asking the cooperation of all civic organizations to get behind the project.

The purpose at this time is to press the matter so strongly that Congressman Schuetz and Washington officials will recognize that Arlington Heights is entitled to the building. It has been suggested that a permanent civic committee be appointed to follow the project to its final O. K. by the government.

Arlington Heights village board is determined that the building be included in the next measure of similar nature that may be presented in congress. If the general public is of the same opinion, an official committee will probably be appointed.

The present postoffice lease expires next January and will probably be renewed by the government. It has as pretentious quarters as any private individual would provide under present postal regulations. The only chance of the community to secure a postoffice building in keeping with the town, is thru government action.

New lot section opened at Randhill

A new section of cemetery lots surrounding the large granite monument at Randhill is now open for sale at reduced prices. The sale price of all lots include the perpetual care. Part of the amount received from each sale goes into a trust fund for that purpose. Randhill is becoming increasingly popular. It is divided into various sections, giving to the purchaser's choice of location. The Elm section, which was one of the first to be opened, is designed for families of the Masonic order; the Willow section is known as the Evangelical section; the Fir, Oakland and Evergreen are non-sectarian. A Lutheran section has recently been established.

At the present time there is a special price on lots in all sections, but the prices will soon advance and families without cemetery lots should make immediate selection. Randhill recommends that entire families cooperate in the selection of lots thereby insuring family proximity when its members pass away and perpetual care of the property in later years when the future generations may forget their predecessors.

Randhill is located on Rand road and is a park of beauty and quiet—a place that is a delight to visit at any time. A drive through the place gives the visitor a feeling of enchanted charm.

If visitors to Randhill will stop at the office on the grounds, they will be shown about the property. Mrs. Elnora Foster, Palatine, Tel. 264, can also answer questions regarding prices and terms.

It was aluminum but Uncle Sam did not get it

The two sons of Dr. Magnus, residing on the former Wheeler farm on Center road, Arlington Heights were very much disappointed Sunday afternoon after they had prevailed on their dad to allow them to take the outboard motor to Fox Lake and discovered that the 5½ h. p. aluminum motor had been stolen. The motor had only been used once. "It would not have been used once," stated Dr. Magnus, "if Uncle Sam was going to use the aluminum for defense work." A reward is being offered.

Arlington to have own soap box derby

Leonard and Norman Held, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Held, 1107 Ridge ave., Arlington Heights, are determined that there shall be a local soap box derby. They have set the date, Sunday, Aug. 17, and secured approval of the police for use of North Vail between Willow and Vine.

Over a dozen local business men are acting as sponsors, providing the prizes. If there are not a sufficient number of local boys to enter, Leonard will complete the entries with boys from Des Plaines, where a soap box derby was held June 27. Leonard asks the Herald to extend his thanks to the business houses and will be glad to receive entries from local boys.

$100 to park board; $50 to USO; Lions club to use its quota for milk and eye glass funds

Arlington Heights citizens made possible $1200 profit from the recent July 4th celebration. The Lions club and Trade and Civic organizations are doing their part by pledging for community service all of their respective shares of the net receipts.

N. M. Lattof, general chairman, released to the press Wednesday, the following report:

N. M. LATTOF

In behalf of the Executive committee of the July 4th celebration and for myself, I wish to express our deep appreciation to all those who helped make the celebration the success we believe it was. While the project was sponsored by the Trade and Civic Association and the Lions Club, in fact, the cooperation of citizens in the community was enlisted without any regard to civic affiliation. This was an Arlington Heights day and everyone called upon to help gladly did so. To all those who gave their services we wish to express our gratitude.

The net income of about $1,200.00 was made possible by the generous cooperation of business men in the community. Their purchase of buttons and contributions of merchandise for sale went a long way in making it possible for the committee to show a good profit.

The income from the celebration will be divided equally between the Trade and Civic association and the Lions club. The full amount will be spent by both organizations exclusively on service projects in the community. Two donations have already been authorized—one of one hundred dollars to the park board and another of fifty dollars to the U.S.O.

All of the eight children and their families plan to spend the evening with Mrs. Krueger, for in spite of her great age, Mrs. Krueger still is in good health and enjoys the company of relatives and friends. She is a member of St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Mr. Erebus Odora, Texas visitor at Art McElhose home

Erebus Odora, formerly of Texas, is now making his permanent residence at the home of Art McElhose.

No one knows how he got here. Whether he's an amnesia victim or just looking for a lost relative, may be an explanation because kind-hearted Art has several of his kin staying at his house already.

Mr. Odora is a large brown man with a wing spread of six inches and hails from Texas. Art knows, because that's where he picked up his brother and sister, who are a part of his collection of 3500 moths and butterflies.

Richard Scheele to be principal of Lutheran school in California

Richard Scheele will be the first principal of the Christian Day School of the Emmaus Lutheran church at Alhambra, California, for which place he left this week. He recently graduated from River Forest Lutheran college and taught in Orland Park last year. Alhambra is a city of 3,000 inhabitants and the establishment of a day school is a new venture of the congregation.

Richard, during his spare time, has assisted at the Arlington Bootery, where he is well known to its customers, many of whom were probably aware of the profession that he is taking up.

County zoning ordinance remains unchanged

Chicago Regional Planning Association in its July publication says:

"The Cook County Board of Commissioners concurred unanimously with their Board of Zoning Appeals on July 16, 1941 and refused to amend the County Zoning Ordinance to create a 4500 square foot residential lot district with 40 foot lots. The present minimum residential lot size for unincorporated Cook county which is retained is 10,000 square feet of area and a 60 foot width."

Northwest communities and numerous civic bodies had announced their opposition to any change in the zoning regulations of Cook county. Certain subdividers sought to have lot areas cut down to 4500 square feet in places adjacent to Chicago. It was understood that the real purpose of the change was to open tracts of land adjacent to defense plants that could be sold at a small amount to laborers without any down payment.

Public Service Co. announces change in installment terms

The shortening of terms on installment sales of electric refrigerators and gas water heaters will be placed in effect August 16 by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, according to a statement made by J. W. Kehoe, Division Vice President of the company.

Under the revised schedule the minimum down payment will be 10 per cent of the purchase price. The maximum number of monthly installments in the case of electric refrigerators will be reduced from 30 months to 24 months, and in the case of gas water heaters will be reduced from 48 months to 36 months.

These credit changes have been adopted in keeping with present national trends Mr. Kehoe pointed out.

A LATE SUMMER FEAST

"August is my favorite month."—the rather plump gentlemen from down south explained. His reasons were that so many of his favorite foods were at their best in August. Then he told us his idea of a perfect meal for this time of year. It's the sort of dinner that would appeal to any man or woman. I think... regardless of what part of the country they might call home. Here it is:

- Fried Chicken
- Peas in Cream
- Boiled or Baked Sweet Potatoes
- Hot Biscuits
- Quince Jelly
- Sliced Tomato Salad
- Pound Cake
- Fresh Peach Ice Cream
- Coffee

CORN FRITTERS

- 1 egg
- 1 cup uncooked corn (cut from the cob)
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- 1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Beat the egg and add other ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Drop by tablespoonfuls into hot frying pan in which 2 tsp. fat have been melted. Cook until golden brown on both sides. Drain on brown paper and serve hot. This will make 10 servings.

Also a Good Lunch or Supper Dish

These Corn Fritters also make a delicious supper or lunch dish served with plenty of butter and syrup.

FRESH PEACH ICE CREAM

- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 4 tsp. all-purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 cups mashed or finely cut peaches (6 medium-sized fresh peaches)
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup sugar for peaches
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Scald the milk. Mix together the sugar, flour and salt. Pour the scalded milk slowly over sugar, flour and salt mixture and cook in a double boiler over hot water for about 20 minutes (until mixture thickens slightly). Cool. Add the peaches, sweetened with the 1/2 to 3/4 cup sugar.

Add the stiffly whipped cream, folding it in. Blend thoroughly. Add the vanilla. Pour into the tray of a mechanical refrigerator and freeze until firm, stirring two or three times before the mixture is completely frozen. Or place in an ice cream freezer... using 3 parts ice to 1 part salt. Freeze. This makes 6 servings.

WALTHER LEAGUE

Northern Illinois District

New items for this department should be mailed not later than Monday to Arlene Nagel, publicity chairman, 804 N. Douglas St., Arlington Heights.

Getting baseball off our mind first, Arlington is the winner of the second half, having won from Norwood Park in a night game last week. Sunday they beat Park Ridge, victors in the first round, and now have to win only one more from Park Ridge to be the champions. We know they can do it. Schaumburg is in second place for the second half. By the way, don't fail to see the all-star game at Rand Park in Des Plaines, Saturday night, starting at 9 o'clock. The all-stars of Schaumburg, Arlington and Des Plaines will play against those selected from Park Ridge, Norwood Park and River Grove teams. It should prove interesting.

The Zone boat trip to Milwaukee on August 24 seems to be the next big thing for us. Details—the boat will leave Navy Pier at 9:30 a. m., travel to Milwaukee, stay there a few hours, to leave again at 4:45, to dock in Chicago at 9:30 or so. Tickets are $1.50 per, orders to be given to a representative in each society before the 16th. We can't give you the name of the contact man in each zone, but would suggest you contact your president or your key man doesn't contact you first. In any event, be sure to get your order in before the 16th. You won't want to miss it.

Last week we promised to give you more details on the District Convention, but failed to do so. Sorry, but here it is. The dates, of course, are Saturday and Sunday, October 11 and 12; the place, the Stevens hotel again. The committee has been working hard for the past four months, making the preliminary plans. From the looks of things, it should be a gala affair. The committee is headed by Erwin Griefendorf with Bill Busch as vice-chairman and Erna Kenn as secretary. Then we have, serving as chairman of the committees: John Streit, heading the banquet committee; Dorothy Poehlau, making arrangements for the hotel accommodations; Elvira Buerger being sure everyone is registered and that each society has at least one delegate; Arlene Nagel seeing to it that everyone knows all about it in time to make arrangements; Vernon Krause is rounding up enough fellows to usher us to the right seats at the right time in the right meeting. Besides these committee chairmen we have Bill Zeiter, Reiny Hecht, Georgey Merker, Jr., Marty Laufer, Irngard Buerger, Rudy Schaefer as advisors; Rev. W. E. Gehrs as spiritual advisor; and Elmer Lueck as treasurer. If you were at Camp Cisco last week or will be yet this summer, you will get a plunger with all the details of speakers, reservations, etc. Be sure to watch the September Leagueur and then mail in your reservations for a hotel room and a banquet ticket. Oh, yes, Ken Koehnke has been selected as contact man for our zone, and he will be responsible for seeing that each of you has an opportunity of making advance registrations, banquet reservations, etc. You'll hear more from him later.

Your writer will be enjoying environment at Camp Arcadia for the next week so there might not be an article next week, unless I get ambitious to mail one down.

Palatine mayor keeping cool among Canadian glaciers

Wm. H. DePue, mayor of Palatine, writes the Enterprise that it is a pleasure to escape the warm weather in Illinois. He went a long ways to do it, however. When he snapped the above picture he was 200 miles north of the Montana-Canadian line at Mt. Assinibayne. He had to use pack horses to get to the above glacier and ice banks are 75 feet high.

Mayor DePue is accompanied on his trip by Mrs. DePue. They expect to return to Palatine by August 12th.

A lady entered a Walgreen lunch room and stood near an occupied booth with an expectant air; she reached for a menu from a nearby table and scanned it carefully. The lady in the booth hurriedly finished her lunch and rose, indicating that the place was vacant. The lady with the menu looked up and shrugged disdainfully. "Oh, I'm not eating here." And she wasn't; she laid the menu down and strolled leisurely out onto the street and made her way over to Fields', having made a perfect stranger decidedly uncomfortable. In other words, only 3 per cent of the ships carrying Red Cross supplies have been lost at sea. A substantial part of these lost supplies have been covered by insurance. The money and supplies furnished by residents of the suburban communities help to swell the total credited to the Chicago chapter.

Chicago Red Cross chapter largest in the world

When the war first broke out in Europe in September, 1939, the International Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland, communicated with the National Red Cross societies of the countries at war and asked if they needed help. All except the German Red Cross replied that they did. The Germans said that no outside assistance was required.

The International Red Cross advised all of the rest of the world's 63 Red Cross societies of the needs and urged all to join in a concerted effort to meet them. They responded promptly and effectively, each according to its means. As the needs have continued to increase with the spread of war to additional nations, the world's Red Cross societies have redoubled their efforts to meet the needs.

The American Red Cross, largest of all Red Cross societies, has given the most. The Chicago chapter, largest of all Red Cross chapters, has led the American Red Cross.

First of all chapter-produced surgical dressing and garments to reach war refugees in Europe nearly two years ago, were those shipped from the Chicago chapter. The chapter has led not only in the speed of its response, but in its quantity as well, shipping more items than any other chapter.

Since the war began, the American Red Cross has shipped to Europe over 20,000,000 surgical dressings and more than 4,000,000 garments. Approximately 10 per cent of the total represented the handiwork of Chicago Chapter volunteers.

The American Red Cross has shipped abroad $35,000,000 worth of war relief supplies, $19,000,000 worth of the supplies were purchased by the Red Cross funds and $16,000,000 worth of the supplies were requisitioned from government surplus commodities. Supplies include 1,970 different items, ranging from bars of soap to prefabricated hospitals, although the bulk of the relief materials consists of food, stuffs, clothing, hospital and medical supplies.

Relief supplies are only distributed under the direct supervision of staff members of the American Red Cross on duty abroad. Whenever the American Red Cross officials are unable to distribute the supplies directly to the persons for whom they are intended, because of Nazi interference, relief operations are immediately suspended.

So far, the American Red Cross has been obliged to suspend relief operations in every single country occupied by German military forces in order to prevent the supplies from falling into the hands of the Nazis. It is interesting to note that in spite of the tremendous shipping losses in the north Atlantic, only

John Vales, father of Mrs. Henry Busse, 210 North Pine, had a birthday Wednesday and a number of his friends called to wish him 62 more years of life. John is not sure that he wants to live that long, saying what will I do when all of you folks have gone to the happy hunting ground?

Joe Schiffhauer has been doing a lot of talking about that fishing trip. We have it over the grape vine that it will not be long before he will leave. The boys do not care when he goes; they are interested in when he returns.

CHICAGO

and THE WORLD AROUND IT BY ALBERT L. HALL

Chicago Auditorium theatre, hotel, and office building closed August 1, but it will not remain closed if the incorporators of the newly formed Auditorium Music Foundation can help it. They may not be so much interested in the hotel and office building, but they are determined to save the theater.

There is something about old theaters that makes people cling to them. The other evening I went to the Studebaker to see "Charley's Aunt" and I enjoyed the theater fully as much as the show. Many of the finest musical comedies of past decades have been shown there, and a good many fine plays, too.

The Princess theatre on South Clark street is being replaced by a parking lot. It is really not an old building, but it was in a poor location.

Several Randolph street playhouses antedate the Princess, and are doing business right along, and the Grand, at one time the Hamilton, must be one of the oldest, too, and it is in much demand.

George Paskvan, Wisconsin University full-back who won a place on the All-Star team that is to play the Bears in Soldier Field August 28, is a resident of McCook, industrial center out on route 66, where they make diesel engines.

William Hale Thompson, three times mayor of Chicago, seems to be living at the Congress hotel according to an article written by Charles N. Wheeler, political editor of the News. "Big Bill" was one of Chicago's most colorful mayors, probably eclipsed or even equalled by none except the first Carter Harrison.

Two hundred persons, said to be gamblers, were chased out of the Esquire, a swanky night club on the Waukegan road in Lake county, by county highway police a few nights ago.

Chicago's horse racing business has moved from Arlington Park on the northwest side down to Washington Park on the south side. In name at least, Washington is one of Chicago's oldest tracks, but the location is farther south.

Inland Steel reports the most profitable quarter in its history. The outlook is for longer freight trains and fewer passenger trains rolling out of Chicago.

Ruth Stark of Carson Pirie's is the State Street queen of Soft Ball, if you can figure that out. The feminine softball elimination contest is now going on in Chicago's outlying ball parks.

Ranee of Sarawak, wife of the white rajah of Malay, visited Chicago during the recent hot spell, and pronounced the weather delightfully cool.

Fred Grove, 22-year-old River Forest man, was killed in action while flying for England, where he went about six weeks ago.

First Methodist church of Chicago has just raised $100,000 to refinance the Chicago Temple in the heart of the loop—Clark and Washington streets.

Argo-Summit and Bedford Park, a Cook county district with 7500 inhabitants accepted a $700 quota in the USO drive. At the end of July $2,389.74 had been raised, and there is no assurance that more will not be received.

Niles school to have playground site of 3.7 acres

The Niles Recreation Board, R. E. Smith, chairman, has acquired a playground site of 3.7 acres adjacent to the school on the south side of Touhy avenue. While comprehensive plans have been made for its development, the plan is first to undertake the simplest and most useful improvements. This site lies adjacent to the area to be acquired by the Forest Preserve District of Cook county to complete its holdings along the North Branch of the Chicago river through the village of Niles.

REQUEST FOR BIDS I have been authorized to receive bids for temporary mail messenger service twice daily between the Prospect Heights Post Office and the Chicago & Northwestern R. R. at Mount Prospect, including exchanges between the Post Offices at Prospect Heights and Mount Prospect.

Bids should be in my hands at the earliest possible moment. HUGH L. GALBRAITH, Postmaster.

Careless habits are dangerous

By C. W. Lussman of Sieburg Pharmacy There are many stories of how small infections resulted fatally. A blister on the heel, an insect's bite, a neglected cut.

Equally fatal results often follow certain small habits, plucking hairs from the face or nose, use of neglected tweezers, picking with the fingers at bumps and boils and "itchy places," resulting from the bite of a winged pest.

There is no way to be sure that the hands are sterile. Guard against dangerous acts. The first sign of irritation or infection should be referred to your doctor.

Curatives advised by the physician should be procured from a competent druggist.

Miss Adele Adam is bride in a pretty garden wedding

Miss Adele Adam, second daughter of Mrs. G. M. Adam, 304 E. Euclid st. and Mr. Howard E. Sleeter, son of Mrs. Sleeter of Naperville, were married Saturday, Aug. 2nd at 5 o'clock p. m., Rev. Herman G. McCoy, officiating. The ceremony occurred in the family garden, in the midst of flower border lawn, canopied by towering trees. The grape arbor entrance formed an arch with baskets of flowers, on the side encircled the bride and groom, during the single ring service.

Miss Marian Hardtke sang "Oh! Promise Me." Miss Marjorie McDie, pianist. The bridal party entered to strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

The bride was given in marriage by her elder brother, Mr. Geo. H. Adam. Mrs. Herbert Hackbarth, younger sister, was matron of honor. Miss Gertrude M. Adam, elder sister, was maid of honor. The groom's best man was Mr. Christianson of Kenosha, Wis. Mr. Edward Lieben of Naperville was usher.

Mrs. Adam and Mrs. Sleeter, assisted by Mrs. R. Epping and the Misses Opal and Bernice Maschka of Kenosha, received and welcomed arriving guests.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, white organdy over white satin; the point lace handkerchief was also her mother's. Her bouquet was sweetheart roses, white gladiolus, white delphinium and shasta daisies. She wore a coronet of roses.

Matron of honor wore a gown of powder blue lace; her flowers were gladiolus, blue delphinium and shasta daisies.

Maid of honor was gowned in rose color lace; her bouquet was of harmonizing flowers.

Wedding supper was served in the Presbyterian dining hall by members of the aid society, where choice edibles were served from flower decked tables. Miss Moodie and Miss Hardtke furnished a musical background. Mr. G. H. Adam as toastmaster, with cheery good fellowship, welcomed the new brother into the family circle. Mr. Herman Luebke spoke in behalf of the Milwaukee guests. Mrs. John Grose responded for the "Tams". The bride has been a member of the Tams since grade school days. Mr. Christianson gave the final touch when he said he had watched the romance through a period of two years.

Telegrams were received from the groom's sister, Miss Ethel Sleeter, from University of Boulder, Colo.; and Mr. Edward Adam, who is stationed at Camp Callan, California, regretting inability to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Sleeter in person.

Among the 75 guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay of Rockford, sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sleeter, groom's brother, from Naperville, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Adam of Madison, Wis., the bride's elder brother.

The company returned to the Adams home, where a happy social time was enjoyed until the bride and groom departed for a short trip northward. When they return their home will be 826 65th St., Kenosha, Wis., where Mrs. Sleeter teaches in kindergarten and Mr. Sleeter is instructor in Commercial department of the high school.

Their many friends wish them peace and prosperity through the future years.

Insulated Homes More Comfortable

Insulated homes are actually more comfortable than would seem warranted by the difference in temperatures caused by the insulation. The use of insulating board lowers the surface temperature of the walls in summer and thus increases the comfort, because the cooler the walls, the cooler one feels. In winter, the phenomenon is reversed. The walls are warmer and consequently help to increase the sensation of warmth.

'Bang-up'

Why is BANG-UP a synonym for splendid, excellent, as "He did a bang-up job of it?" In the 1850s, says De Vere, gentlemen of elegance invariably wore an expensive greatcoat which was known as a "bang-up," hence, by extension, anything that is admirable, superlative, of the highest order.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Eleanore:

"The Verbena, I'm sure never looks where she's going. She's always quite happy. As long as she's growing. She sprawls all about. When the sun is quite hot, Gets sand in her hair. And her stems in a knot. The brighter her colors— The less she will mind. I think she's an artist— The bohemian kind."

Would you believe it could be possible, that so many events could crowd into two weeks? Since my last letter to you, Hill Top Farm was found and you and Dave have already put your approval on that "certain place with a view" and we have been working like beavers to have the house ready for Fall occupancy. You must bear with me, Eleanore, for I'm afraid my letters will contain little else than descriptions of the many beautiful views we have from top of the hill; what wall papers have been selected; how many rooms we have finished painting, etc. It has been years since we have been so excited!

When we saw the old house, with Dorothy and Lowell for the first time, some of the comments ran like this: "Oh," I said, "it's got a pump in the sink! I'll paint that red." The head of our house came back with, "that's cistern water, my love . . . in other words . . . rain water. There is no other water piped in the house." "Oh, really?" I am somewhat crestfallen at that news. Pictures immediately entered my mind of us all taking baths in round tin tubs in the middle of the kitchen floor and I wavered. But just then, I looked out of the East window in the kitchen and decided then and there, I was willing to give up my modern bathroom in exchange for that view. Lowell said: "It's wired for electricity . . . that's something." I had been thinking, here at last is the proper place for our old oil lamps. Dorothy must have sensed this for she said: "You could have that taken out." This made us all laugh. George asked what the round holes near the top of the ceiling were for and we told him for the chimneys of the stoves. Then we were off on a new discussion of what kind of stoves and fuel would be best to use in a house without a central heating system. About this time, Rob came out with: "It's one thing to spend a vacation in a north wood's cabin without modern facilities and quite another thing to live without them every day." "Our ancestors did it and most of them lived to a healthy old age," is my retort to that.

When we went out on the porch, which is being replaced with a new and larger one, we all spotted a tiny white house about seventy-five feet east North East. It stands on a slope at a decided angle, (I never saw one that didn't, did you?) It boasts what looks like an exhaust pipe from its roof. Rob said: "My dear, do you fully realize what that is going to mean to you in your future life on the farm?" "Oh, yes," I cheerfully replied, "I'll plant some Holly Hocks all around it this Fall and when Summer comes, you'll hardly notice it's there. We could paint it nicely and I could use the scraps left over from the wall papers and get quite an attractive effect inside." "You wouldn't want to add a chimney and a couple of windows, would you?" my fond husband answered. However, this is exactly what Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm says she did, in her book, "Take to the Hills." In fact, she had a Chicago Architect design plans for her "necessary little house," because she wanted something built that "would look like what it ain't." And she ended up with two separate compartments with curtained windows in each, a chimney and a wasp's nest hanging from the roof. This latter was to attract the inevitable wasps to the outside rather than to the inside! If you want a thousand laughs, don't miss reading, "Take to the Hills." It will put you in the right mood for our adventure on Hill Top Farm.

Rob and I were so amused by an article called, "It has possibilities" in this month's Better Homes and Gardens Magazine. Maybe you saw it. In the article the gentleman tells about the houses his wife influenced him to buy and remodel. He said they planned in the beginning of each venture, to do as much of the work themselves, but they always ended up by calling on all the experienced workmen they could gather together. Partly, because they couldn't wait to see their dream come true, mostly, because in their enthusiasm they nearly always took on more than they could handle. Like them, we are trying to do as much of the work ourselves. We have always wanted an opportunity like this, and as Dorothy said: "You certainly have your chance now."

To date, we have washed and given two coats of paint to the second floor woodwork. We have removed all the wall paper in the house. The enclosed stairway had been painted a horrible dark green; we have given it two coats of sunshine yellow and it will take a third. The hall on the first floor is also to be this same yellow, including the shelves. I am planning to have glass shelves placed at the window in this hall to hold our antique glass pieces. Don't you think it will be lovely with the afternoon sun shining through the various colored glasses? We go over to the farm every evening and as many afternoons as Rob can get out from the city. We always keep three or four paint brushes soaking in turpentine so drive out soon. No need to remind you what will be expected of you!

We laughed and laughed over your episode with the live chickens. What will that husband of yours think up next? I can just picture you and Estelle. I should have been frightened, too. I must confess that chicken dinner sounded mighty good and I would have been willing to go through what you did in order to have it.

As I write, I hear Jack and his friend Glen, scurrying around in the kitchen. They are making some kind of a concoction which will be called Orange Ade and they will attempt to wheedle the rest of the children into buying it, at the movie show this afternoon. This "stupendous" production is to be given in our basement this and tomorrow afternoon for the benefit of . . . Jack and Glen! Remember when Bob and Jack and the Murphy youngsters put on a circus every summer in our back yard in Highland Park? They always turned the proceeds over to the Tribune Free Ice Fund and when Jack and Glen decided on showing some of the movie films, I thought they had some philanthropic plan in mind, but I was mistaken, I guess. The excuse for dividing the money between themselves they say, is because, "it looks like rain, and they don't believe many children will come anyway." The preparations for this show necessitated us clearing out the basement of debris that has been collecting for some time; taking apart and putting away the table tennis table; sweeping and washing the floor; dragging all the chairs from the bedrooms and kitchen; erecting a projecting room and wiring the ceiling for a microphone, (into which Jack will try some extemporaneous speaking). This sort of thing creeps up on you and you seem to be unaware of the proportion to which it is growing, until, all of a sudden, you discover that you haven't a chair to sit on or a glass from which to take a drink. The side doors keeps opening and shutting, banging would be a better word, children are swarming all over the place and general pandemonium prevails.

And now, I must close my letter, for Jack is excitedly calling, that not only the children are coming for the first performance, but their Mothers as well. I hadn't counted on this and I'm not dressed in a clean cotton afternoon dress as they will be, and I'm secretly wondering, if all our soiled clothes are strewn over the clothes basket in the basement in full view, and whether or not the dirty hand prints were washed off the walls in the hall entrance last cleaning day. So, to the basement for the time being!

My love to all at your house,
MARY

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Rosemary Heller and her cousin, Miss Marguerite Boswell of Kilgore, Texas, who has been spending the summer here, left Monday for a week at Camp Nawakwa, the Camp Fire Camp, at South Haven, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Haisler went to Fox Lake Sunday, where they attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. Haisler's aunt and uncle.

During the week of July 21-25 a representative from the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross conducted a life-saving class at the Arlington Heights swimming pool. Classes were held for three hours each day, and at the completion of the course an examination in practical life-saving was given. Those receiving certificates in the senior course were Jean Daniels, Howard Prout and Edward Huffman. Junior certificates were given to Jean Meyer, James Hayden and Bud Dick.

The Presbyterian church Ladies Aid society will meet with Mrs. George M. Adams, this Thursday at 12:30 for their annual picnic on her lawn. It is requested that everyone bring their dishes and cutlery.

A daughter, Nancy Ann, was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hrdlicka July 30, at the St. Francis hospital, Evanston. The baby weighed 6 pounds and 9 ounces. Mr. Hrdlicka is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hrdlicka, Arlington restaurant proprietors.

Camp Fire Girls meet and talk over fun at camp

The Camp Fire Girls, who went to camp this summer, held a "reunion" at the home of Mrs. B. H. Jarvis on Tuesday afternoon. They all came in their camp uniforms, and Mrs. Rex Volz, who went to camp with them, started the festivities by blowing a whistle and calling "K.P.," which is the first call passed down "Peacock Alley" at camp each morning.

Brown and orange refreshments were served at a table decorated in the same hues, as these are the campfire colors, symbolizing the logs and the flame. The place cards had pictures of camp on them and the girls sat around the table and "reminisced."

Questions brought out what each girl had found funny, exciting, interesting or beautiful in her camp experience. Nancy's face when she got into the "Pie bed" the girls had fixed for her, Joan's adventure with the poison ivy, the view from the top of a very high dune, the sunset from the bluff by the lake, and the last "happy moment" when you get off the bus "back home again," were discussed among other things.

Camp songs were sung, including the one which the girl wrote themselves about "Sand, Sand, Sand" and how you "walk awhile and sink a mile." Each girl wrote an acoustic telegram, using the letters in Camp Nawakwa, to Rosemary Heller, who is at camp this week. The party ended with another call for "Kitchen Police" for supper.

Incidentally Joan Lewke had been chosen as the best "K.P." in the whole camp the first week the girls were there and Clara Judge had been selected for the same honor the next week. Pauline Russell, Nancy Kummer and Anne Volz had been allowed to sleep in a small cottage usually reserved for guests, because they were considered three of the most trustworthy girls in the more than two hundred who were in attendance the second week they were there.

Those who attended the reunion were Priscilla Glow, Patsy Collins, Nancy Kummer, Pauline Russell, Anne Volz, Dorothy Williams, Joan Lewke and Mrs. Rex Volz.

Alfred Voltz of Glenview takes Minnesota bride

Alfred Voltz Jr. took a Minnesota bride Saturday evening in a pretty wedding ceremony at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Voltz Sr., Lehigh ave., Glenview.

The bride, Josephine Geisor, daughter of Mr. William Geisor of Chisholm, Minn., was attired in a white chiffon dress trimmed with lace. She wore long sleeves, a short train and finger-tip veil, and carried white lilies.

Maid of honor was Mrs. George DeVries of Evanston, sister of the bride. Mrs. DeVries was dressed in aqua chiffon and also carried lilies. Best man was Clarence Voltz of Des Plaines, brother of the groom.

Rev. Paul Munding of the Trinity Lutheran church of Glenview performed the ceremony in which the bride was given away by her father, Edward Finke of Elmhurst rendered the wedding march.

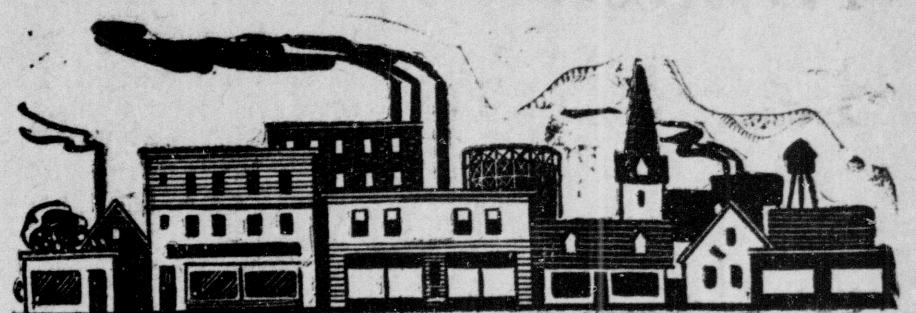

A reception followed in the home with about 80 persons present. Out of town guests included the bride's father, William Geisor, Mrs. Emma Fox and Mrs. Lindahl, also from Chisholm, Minn., and Harold Voltz of Pasadena, Calif.

The newlywed couple are taking a brief trip through the southern part of Illinois. They will reside, for the present, with the groom's parents.

Mrs. C. Calvin, nee Mary Dearie, is showered

Mrs. Charles Calvin, the former Miss Mary Dearie, was the guest of honor last week at two showers, which were given by her friends in honor of her recent marriage. The Ten-Forty Club entertained Mrs. Calvin Thursday evening at a personal shower at the home of Miss Marje Jones at Mt. Prospect. A delicious buffet supper was served and Mrs. Calvin received many lovely gifts. The guests included Miss Donna Jean Lane, Miss Rosemary Schwartz, Miss Harriet Wilsons, Miss Betty Smith, Miss Jean Bolton, Miss Cary Mundy, Miss Louise Bencie and Miss Jane Dearie.

Another party was given for Mrs. Calvin by Mrs. Herbert Litzemberger and Miss Dolores Bernard, on Friday evening. Games were played during the evening, and prizes were awarded to Miss Betty Buckley and Miss Virginia McFarland. The guest of honor was presented with many beautiful gifts. Later in the evening a buffet supper was served by the hostesses. Out of town guests were Miss Billie O'Neil, Miss Betty Buckley, Miss Jane McFarland and Miss Gloria Molner. Arlington Heights guests were Miss Suzanne Merrill, Miss Lorraine Easton, Miss Shirley Laseke and Miss Jane Dearie.

P.T.A. to present 'Show of the Hour' September 5

The Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher Association presents: The Show of the Hour—all star vaudeville—high school auditorium, Friday evening, September 5, at 8 o'clock.

"Yes-sir-ee-sir" Tommie Bartlett, of "Meet the Missus" and "The Missus Goes to Market" radio fame, will be master of ceremonies, presenting a variety of top notch entertainment. There will be stage and radio artists who have appeared at the Oriental and the State and Lake theatres, the Edgewater Beach Hotel, and Columbia Broadcasting studios. The P.T.A. Ways and Means committee is hard at work, making the program to completion. Each day offers new ideas and brings enthusiastic response. It is the hope of the committee and the P.T.A. board that the full quota for their yearly budget may be realized by this one effort. They feel that the residents of Arlington Heights will not only be given a rare opportunity to enjoy a great vaudeville show, but that by their participation they will be relieved from further calls for contributions during the coming year. After all expenses have been paid and the amount of the budget deducted from the proceeds of this entertainment, any sum remaining will be turned over to the U.S.O.

Camp Fire board meets at home of Mrs. Crumlish

The Camp Fire Board met Monday evening, Aug. 4, at the home of Mrs. Daniel Crumlish, the president, for the transaction of routine business.

With regret the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Crumlish as president, which became necessary due to her duties as Woman's Club president. New officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. Paul Collins, president; Mrs. Fred Lewke, vice president; Mrs. Rex Volz, secretary-treasurer.

Camp Fire is sponsored in Arlington Heights by the Woman's Club and the Parent-Teacher Association, each organization appointing four members to the board. This year Mrs. Marshall Pate, Mrs. Paul Collins, Mrs. Fred Lewke and Mrs. Edw. Niemeyer represent the P.T.A., with Mrs. Paul Williams, Mrs. George Glow, Mrs. Raymond Atkinson and Mrs. Orval Baldwin serving from the Woman's club. Together with the guardians and their registered assistants, and the president of the two sponsoring groups, ex-officio, these actively interested women will work together to add another successful year to the Camp Fire record of achievement.

Dick Lamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lamm, celebrated his sixth birthday last week. A group of neighborhood children, who were invited to help him celebrate, had a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon, and showed great appreciation of the birthday cake and ice cream which were provided.

Mr. Willard Loeber underwent a tonsillectomy Monday, at Dr. Bennett's hospital in Chicago.

Mr. Robert Shelley, secretary of the Arlington Park Race Track and Mrs. Shelley left Friday for Saratoga Park at Narragansett Bay, Rhode Island. They were accompanied by Mary Jane Suerth, who will remain with them for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Sturm went to South Bend, Indiana, Friday where they attended the wedding of Mr. Sturm's brother on Saturday. They were also guests at the bridal dinner on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pate and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pate have returned from Lake Geneva, where they have been spending the summer.

Mrs. Carl H. Ewert returned from Berlin, Wisconsin, where she had been with her father, Mr. Sigwalt of Des Plaines. Mr. Sigwalt, who had been a patient in the Berlin hospital for some time, was able to return to his home Saturday.

Mrs. A. E. Elfeld has recently returned from the east where she attended the marriage of her daughter, Dr. Persis Elfeld, of the Farnhurst State hospital, Wilmington, Delaware, was married on July 28, to Dr. G. Beiringer, also of the Farnhurst State hospital.

The marriage which took place at Elkton, Maryland, was a very quiet one, attended only by a few relatives and close friends.

OBITUARIES

William Melzer

William Melzer, 82, of 1336 Washington street, retired farmer and long time resident of Des Plaines and environs, died July 29 in his home following a long illness.

Funeral services were held at the Oehler Home for Funerals Friday with the Rev. Philip T. Bohi officiating. Burial was in Ridgeview cemetery. Masonic services were held at the graveside.

Mr. Melzer was born March 19, 1859 in Northfield township near the present location of Milwaukee avenue and the Belt Line railway.

His parents were John Conrad Melzer and Catherine Margaret Melzer, who had come to this country from Bavaria, Germany, and settled in the township.

In 1881, Mr. Melzer and Mary Holste were married in St. Peter's church in East Northfield. They resided in Shermanville (now Northbrook) for six months, then moving to Wheeling where Mr. Melzer operated a meat market for three years. They then moved to a farm there for 26 years before returning to Illinois to take a farm at Arlington Heights on the present location of the Old Orchard Country club. After six years on this farm, he sold the ground and moved to Des Plaines in December 1916 and had resided at 1336 Washington street until his death.

A great grandfather, he leaves his wife, Mary Holste, with whom he celebrated his golden wedding anniversary 10 years ago, and seven sons and daughters. They are: Mrs. Wm. Hosfelt, Massena, Iowa; Mrs. Alvina Reichardt, Milford, Mich.; Joe Melzer, Arlington Heights; Irving Melzer, Milford, Mich.; Harley Melzer, Massena, Iowa; W. B. Melzer, 1336 Washington street, Des Plaines; and R. L. Melzer, 746 Lee street, Des Plaines. One sister, Kate Melzer, of Glenview, survives.

Also surviving are 18 grandchildren, and 11 great grandchildren. Two children are deceased.

Mrs. Bertha Hinz

Mrs. Bertha Hinz (nee Hinz) was born May 3, 1860, at Addison, Illinois, and spent her girlhood at Beecher, Illinois. She was married to Charles Hinz in Arlington Heights where they lived before moving to Chicago in 1905. Mr. Hinz died in 1914. She had been living at 4035 N. Albany ave., Chicago, where she died Tuesday after a short illness. She recently attended the Old Folks Home Festival in Arlington Heights and met old acquaintances.

She leaves to mourn her departure two brothers, John and Herman Hinz, of Beecher, five sons, Albert, Henry, Edward and Arthur, all of Chicago, and Herman, of Arlington Heights, one daughter, Helen, of Chicago, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the Taber Evangelical Lutheran church, Sunnyside and Drake ave., Chicago, at 2 o'clock, with burial at the Arlington Lutheran cemetery.

LETTERS FROM THE BOYS IN SERVICE

Boys in service—This paper will be glad to receive and to publish letters from you who are in the service of your country. Your friends at home are glad to read them. One letter to the editor really means a dozen or a hundred letters because of the number of your friends who will read them. There is just one thing that we want you to understand. You can not afford and we can not print criticism of your officers or the government. Such publication would be detrimental to you and would worry all of the mothers at home of the boys who are in service. You can write of army conditions, but do not exaggerate them. The editor believes that there are ways open to each one of you to obtain fair and just treatment if you believe that you are being imposed upon, but that way is not through public criticism. Now that we understand each other, let the letters come. Letters received by relatives here at home will be equally welcomed.

THE EDITOR

If our boys in camp are half as good soldiers as they are correspondents, we won't have to worry about our front line of defense no matter where it is. The boys have responded well to our appeal for letters. This week we have one from associates Harold Grismer and Lewis Helm, of Arlington Heights, who are stationed at Camp Forrest where most of the local boys have gone, one from Fort Ord, California, where Wally Linneweh, of Palatine, is spending his year or more, one from Harvey Kappa, of Palatine, who is with the signal corps at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Rev. W. C. Koester, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church of Palatine, and the young people of his congregation have introduced a church by mail service. Twice a month a mimeographed copy of Rev. Koester's sermon is mailed to the service men. In the words of Rev. Koester, "Because some of the boys in the service of our country have no Lutheran chaplain in their camp and find it next to impossible to get leaves of absence to attend Lutheran services in service centers outside the camp, while others again have no Lutheran centers, we have taken this means of trying to serve our boys spiritually, at least in a small measure, from home."

No hard boiled officers here

Ft. Ord, Calif.
July 27, 1941

Dear Editor: I would like the opportunity of letting all the people back in northern Illinois know just how I am making out in the army. First I'll tell where my camp is. Well, Ft. Ord is about 125 miles south of San Francisco. We are stationed right on the Monterey Bay. Ft. Ord is built on nothing but sand. Right now any place we walk we are ankle deep in sand.

It gets pretty hot in the day time, but the nights are very cool with lots of fog. We live in wooden barracks which house 60 men.

Reveille blows at six o'clock. We have to stand at 6:15, then we police up around our barracks. When this is all done everybody makes a bee-line for the mess hall. Breakfast is at 6:30. The company falls out for drill at 7:00 or 7:15. Most of the time they eat dinner in the field. The men here always carry light packs and no rifles. The reason they don't carry rifles is M. Co. only has machine guns and one platoon of 81 M. mortars.

The machine gun weighs 44 lbs. and the tripod weighs 51 lbs. The water can and ammunition box weighs 15 lbs. each. We have only four men in a squad so you can see we have it pretty tough. I've chapel with Rev. Phillip Bohi officiating. Burial at Memorial Park.

Mrs. M. Katharine Sauerland

Mrs. Katharine Sauerland, 1651 River street, Des Plaines, died on Thursday noon at her home. She had been suffering from pneumonia as a result from a recent fall suffered in the home.

Mrs. Sauerland was born December 31, 1855, in Germany. Services were held Saturday at the Lauterburg and Oehler Des Plaines chapel, Rev. Phillip Bohi officiating. Interment at Town of Maine.

Deceased is survived by seven daughters, one of them, Mrs. Shaw of Des Plaines, and two sons.

IN MEMORIAAM

MECHERER, JOHN — In beloved memory of my husband, who passed away two years ago, August 8, 1939.

When evening shades are falling And I am sitting all alone, To my heart there comes a longing — If he only could come home. Wife, Rose Becherer carried that machine gun 'til I fell from exhaustion.

Transportation to town is very good. We can go to three different towns for only 25c a round trip.

The hottest I have ever seen it was 115 degrees in the shade. That was on our last maneuver. I am now with the kitchen so I am pretty lucky. At least I don't have to hike in all this heat. The chow here is very good—at least we aren't kicking. For entertainment we have a gym and also a day room where we have any magazine you can think of. The people out here treat us soldiers very well.

I've been in the army now a little better than five months and I have never met any officer that was really hard-boiled. They all treat us well.

When my year is up I believe I'll join the navy.

Well, lights go off in ten minutes so I'll have to close... Besides I don't know of any more to write right now.

Wally Linneweh

Riding is better than walking, engineers find out

Dear Editor: We have been reading the letters of the other fellows in the army, and decided to let you know how life at Camp Forrest looks to us.

Our day begins at five-fifteen when the corporal bellows out "Get Up." We have until five-fifty-six to put on our clothes, sweep, mop the floor, police the area, and fall out for morning roll call. Breakfast at six-ten consists of either some red stuff in a white solution that they call chipped beef or some yellowish green substance on a white plate known as scrambled eggs.

At six-forty-five we fall out to start the day's work which may be road repair, infantry drill or bridge building. Recall is at eleven-forty-five and mail is distributed at that time.

We then eat dinner at twelve o'clock and rest our weary bones until one o'clock at which time we go out to do a little demolition work, build field fortifications, or catch up on our sleep at a lecture given by a commissioned officer. There is a rumor that the government is going to print the handbooks in radium ink so that they can be used at lectures during blackouts.

Recreation hour begins at three-thirty but as yet we have been too busy to use it. After a hurried change of uniform we fall in for retreat at five-ten. Then the supper mess at five-thirty and we are through for the night unless there is classes or cleaning details for the barracks or company area. The lights go out at ten-fifteen and at ten-thirty an officer comes along to see that you are tucked in bed and asleep.

August ninth is the day we are scheduled to leave for Camp Robinson, Arkansas and maneuvers. During this time we will receive three-seventy per cent—three lousy meals plus 70 cents—along with a few thousand chigger bites, mosquito bites or a good snake bite or two.

If we survive these war games, we will be back in Arlington on a ten day furlough next October or November—it all depends upon how many times they change their mind as to when they are going to let us go. At least on maneuvers we won't have the dust and mud of Camp Forrest to complain about.

During the recent inspections the engineers were judged the best of the division at infantry bayonet drill. Maybe this accounts for the fact that we are called Combat Engineers.

From time to time we come in contact with other fellows from Arlington Heights that are stationed here at Camp Forrest. During our leisure hours we can either go to a twenty-cent show at one of the camp theaters or to the town of Tullahoma which has two shows, fifteen bars, five churches, and six hundred girls to thirty thousand soldiers. The USO club which was just completed holds about two hundred soldiers with standing room only.

Being in the engineers the company rides instead of walks which most of the men in our outfit agree is all right because they would rather have callouses on their seat instead of on their feet.

All in all this stretch of one year won't be so bad if not extended into service for the duration of the emergency. If we keep the cooks for the duration of our time, we feel that they will be the best in the division. Our first cook is a resident of Prospect Heights—known here as "Cookie"—but better known at home as Walter Landridge.

The common conception back home is that a year in the army is like a year's vacation with pay. We know now that it isn't a vacation and you can hardly call twenty-one dollars a month pay. Private Harold Grismer Private Lewis Helm Co. A—108th Engineers (Combat)

How it feels to run through gas, with masks, of course

Hello folks:

I'm up in the typing classrooms at the present time and have a little time to spare. I'm supposed to be conducting a class. Everybody is working so I thought this would be a good time to type out a letter to you. Things have been going pretty well with me.

We have been having gas mask drill often. Yesterday we had to run through clouds of gas and get accustomed to it, which was tough to do.

There were about ten different gases and we had to run through all of them, which gave me a terrible headache. It's hard to breathe with the masks on and one's chest heaves like a bellows after a trip through the lethal chambers.

Tear gas certainly does affect the eyes—we went through that without the mask. A person can't see a thing for quite awhile until the air or wind clears the gas from the eyes. Water runs from the eyes just like rain rolling off a roof.

The teletype work has been coming along fine. I am on the afternoon shift now—from noon until five. There's not much doing. We sit around and "shoot the boloney" and go to the PX once in a while for a malted milk or a candy bar. I am supposed to watch that the other boys get their practice so I have to send all the messages because the others are somewhat nervous yet and make plenty of errors. We was the same way at first, but I am used to it now. I am taking care of all the communications from Alaska and San Francisco, and sometimes it has us stepping, yet I have some fun out of it knowing that what I send out goes for miles and miles and comes out on another machine.

We are going to be on maneuvers again next month and I will be attached to the 4th Army Command post. It will be a little easier. We won't have to get up at all hours of the night and move anyway. I'll fix up shifts to leave myself free in the evenings and Sundays so that will make it much easier.

We had a little trouble around the outfit the other night. A few of the boys tried to get a petition out against keeping us in the army longer than a year. The big boys found out about it. I don't know what they are going to do but I imagine they will get some kind of punishment. Many of us didn't sign it—we knew what would happen when the big boys clamped down. The boys who started it haven't much to say now. I guess they are scared.

Well I hope everything in Schaumburg and Palatine is going along fine. I'll write again in a week or so and yet you know how our maneuvers go. So long. Harvey J. Kappa, Company "B", 60th Sig. Battalion, Fort Lewis, Washington.

SENT TO LOUISIANA

Fort Sheridan Recruit Reception Center reports that Carl Wiborg, of Arlington Heights, was transferred to the third armored division, Camp Polk, Louisiana, last week.

Walter Simson of Arlington Heights has been transferred from Fort Sheridan infantry to Camp Wheeler, Ga.

33RD DIVISION MOTHERS' NOTES

Most of the boys from Camp Forrest will go on maneuvers the 11th of August. They expect to receive a ten day furlough when these are completed, and all the mothers and friends are looking forward to having the boys back home for a few days.

It has been necessary to change the date of the card party from August 7th to Thursday, August 23rd. A later notice in the local paper will give the time and place of the party. All those holding chance books are asked to please turn them in as soon as possible.

Restricted Japan Trade Has Little Effect on Corn Belt Products

No Wheat Plan for Participation is Needed in '42 AAA

Contrary to provisions of the past year, the 1942 AAA provides that a wheat plan for participation will not be used in connection with the 1942 program, it has been announced by Lee M. Gentry, state AAA chairman.

Although the formality of signing the wheat plan is being eliminated, Gentry emphasized the importance of farmers planning ahead as usual concerning the coming year's farming operations. Farmers will have an opportunity later to sign a farm plan for participation which will cover the entire farming operations, including wheat. The farmer's decision concerning his 1942 wheat program will affect his opportunity for full participation in the 1942 program.

Insect damage to 1941 corn stored on ear to be low

Corn, stored on the ear in 1941, will probably not be seriously injured by insects, according to M. D. Farrar, entomologist of the Illinois State National History Survey.

The Angoumois grain moth, which damages ear corn when the pest is prevalent, is relatively low in numbers in most of the state. However, southern Illinois will have a large increase in this pest before fall in corn stored on the ear.

In the surplus corn areas, bins filled with shelled corn will need to be watched this summer, since a survey conducted by Farrar shows that most bins have some infestation. Bins of corn shelled in 1939 or 1940 are in some cases heavily infested. He recommends that these bins be inspected regularly every two weeks during the summer months.

If insects are causing the grain to heat or become damp or musty on top, control measures should be taken at once. It is important to examine the center of the bins, particularly the top 18 inches, since this is the part of the stored corn that is more likely to go "out of condition" first.

Methods of treating shelled corn for insect control are fully discussed in the college's Circular No. 512, of the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station, entitled "How to Know and Control Stored Grain Insects." The publication is available free from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, the State Natural History Survey and local farm advisers.

Farm economist sees no danger to midwest farmer

By G. L. JORDAN — Associate Chief, Agricultural Economics, University of Illinois.

We have now reached the stage where it appears that the United States government is prepared and willing to take steps to circumvent the economic and military domination of southeastern Asia by Japan. Although Japanese and Chinese funds in this country have been frozen subject to release by special permission, we do not yet know the extent of economic or military steps that may finally be taken.

As a general rule, any barriers to international trade in the form of tariffs, exchange restrictions, quotas or prohibitions tend to lower the standards of living of the nations concerned. This is because people tend to exchange those goods and services for which they have the greatest advantage of production for those goods and services for which their advantage of production is not quite so great.

Not all groups of the population of the country are affected in the same way or to the same extent. Undoubtedly measures that have been taken and will be taken are intended to restrict exports to Japan and China. What effect will this restriction in trade have upon the corn-belt farmer?

According to the United States Department of Commerce, exports from this country to Japan during 1940 were 5 million dollars less than they were in 1939 and 13 million dollars less than in 1938.

The exports to China in 1940, the United States Department of Commerce reports, amounted to 22 million dollars, or almost 40 percent, compared with 1939. Most of this increase was during the first part of the year, and exports fell off sharply during the latter part of the year. Part of these exports to China were doubtless on order for Japan or for Japanese uses.

Nearly half of the gains made during the year were credited to shipments of aircraft and parts, although during the early part of the year sales of American raw cotton to China were also in large volumes.

Imports from China during 1940 increased more than 50 percent over 1939. The purchase of tung oil, mainly from "free" China, accounted for the largest part of this gain, although raw silk purchases also increased.

During and prior to 1940, Japan increased restrictions on gasoline consumption as well as on imports of foreign automobiles. As a result exports of automobiles to Japan declined drastically. However exports of petroleum products increased substantially, probably for the purpose of building up reserve supplies.

For the five most important items, exports to Japan and imports from Japan for the calendar year 1940 ranked as follows:

Exports	Value, million dollars
Petroleum & petroleum products	54.6
Iron & steel, semi-manufactured	38.0
Raw cotton	29.6
Refined copper	24.6
Power driven metal-working machinery	23.3

Imports	Value, million dollars
Raw silk	105.3
Crab meat, sauce and paste	3.3
Tea	3.2
China and porcelain table and kitchenware	2.4
Cotton cloth, bleached	2.3
Exports to China and imports from China during 1940 were as follows:

Exports	Value, million dollars
Raw cotton	11.3
Aircraft and parts	11.1
Tobacco leaf	7.3
Petroleum and products	4.2

In addition to the foregoing, the United States exported more than 1 million dollars worth of each of petroleum products and ginseng to Hong Kong in 1940.

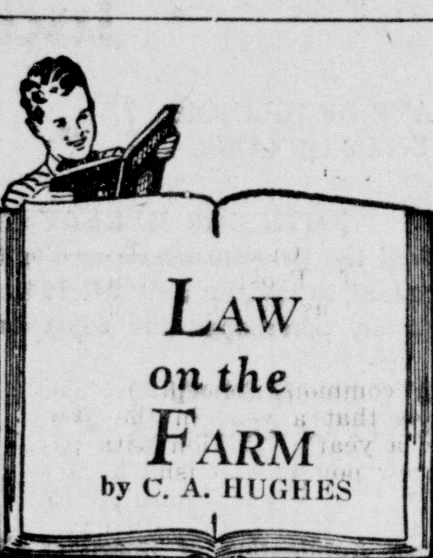

It is obvious that our chief exports have been petroleum products, steel manufactures, cotton, aircraft and parts, copper, machinery, tobacco and some wheat flour.

Of these classes of commodities, cotton is the only agricultural product likely to be significantly affected by the restrictions of exports. Tobacco would be second, but the amount of wheat flour exported is insignificant compared to our total production.

Cotton prices, however, have recently increased substantially in spite of limited exports. This is the result of the greatly increased domestic demand for cotton and the damage done to the cotton crops this year by the drought in the southern states. It is entirely possible that the restrictions that may be placed upon the imports of silk will actually strengthen cotton prices. Certainly it has caused the price of common stocks of rayon manufacturing companies to greatly increase in value.

If steel mills, aircraft factories and machinery manufacturers were seriously in need of an outlet for their products, restrictions upon exports might be depressing, but at the present time the armament program calls for the entire output of such products.

County Fairs—In recognition of the value of county fairs to agriculture in Illinois, the state legislature has provided for certain types of support, financial and otherwise.

By following the procedure outlined by law, the officers of county fair associations may secure money from the state agricultural premium fund. To secure money from this fund, the officers must notify the State Department of Agriculture before May 1 of their intention to hold a fair, giving facts about organization, officers, dates of exhibition, location and premium list.

If the fair qualifies, an amount of money, as limited and determined by law, may be disbursed to them, but only after the officers have certified to the correctness of the amount of cash premiums paid; that no unlawful gambling devices were allowed on or immediately adjacent to the grounds; and that no alcoholic liquor other than beer was permitted to be sold.

Four-H clubs and vocational agriculture section fairs may also participate in the agricultural premium fund upon request and the submission of necessary facts by the county farm adviser or the state supervisor of Agricultural Education, respectively.

Another state law provides that counties may appropriate up to $300 for an educational exhibit at the county fair. Also upon petition of 100 voters the question of levying a tax of 1 mill per dollar of assessed valuation for fair purposes may be submitted to the voters of the county.

The various departments of the state government may, with the authorization of the governor, make educational exhibits at county fairs.

The laws referred to are in the Illinois Revised Statutes, chapter 34, sections 153 to 155a-155e also chapter 127, sections 164 and 169.

Further information may be obtained from the State Department of Agriculture, Springfield.

MUSIC NEWS AND VIEWS

by E. D. HERRICK

This is being written about midnight and I am leaving about four a. m. tomorrow for a week's vacation at Mercer, Wis., so if this seems somewhat garbled this week don't be too hard on me! My music store will be closed for the week too, but will be open as usual on August 12.

While I haven't any authority to release the news as yet, I can suggest that you be on the lookout for tickets for the show at Rand Park, Des Plaines, Ill., on September 5. If the sponsors get all the acts they expect to have now the show will be a sellout ahead of time and you'll be sorry if you miss it. I don't often advise you to see an entertainment in this column but don't miss this one!

All my pupils, their friends, relatives, parents, are invited to attend the annual picnic I have given them the last three years on the 24th of August at Rand Park, Des Plaines. It will be an all day affair with an informal musical program in the auditorium in the evening and anyone who would like to come is invited. There are no charges, nothing to buy or sell, and you are invited to spend the entire day picnicking.

Complete details are included in the eighth issue of this year of "Rhythm Ramblings," a mimeographed news bulletin edited by myself and distributed free of charge to pupils. This magazine has appeared regularly at least once a month for the past six years and contains comments on new music, a gossip column concerning pupils, an honor roll for pupils who practice extra hard, prize contests (last year I gave away almost $1,000.00 worth of merchandise in contests) and many other interesting articles. It is so well liked that pupils who discontinue their lessons ask to have it continued and lately I have been doing that at 25c a year to pay for postage. This picnic announcement issue is going to nearly a hundred old students whose names I still have on file. If you'd like to see a sample copy I'll be glad to give or send you one!

Caution against expansion on poor land

Food and feed needed to present national defense efforts can be produced more cheaply by farming good land more extensively than by plowing up poorer land that in the long run should be in grass or trees, points out E. M. Hughes, agricultural economist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Although rising prices will have a tendency to expand production on poor land, Hughes says specific farming areas should not deviate from a good land-use program.

In general farmers are advised to continue with the type of farming which has paid best in the area in the past. Higher prices may justify some shift to other enterprises, such as the production of hogs in the cash-grain area, but Hughes sees little evidence now that there will be any permanent major changes in the type of farming to be followed in Illinois.

More important than changing the type of farming is putting land in shape to produce high yields, which will be a highly significant factor in obtaining low costs that will be so important in the period of low prices to follow. Applying lime and phosphate, draining out low spots in the fields and opening up closed soils are important operations to increase production.

Likewise, it is advisable to increase the efficiency of livestock and poultry production through better care and feeding. Hughes believes it is not a good time for farmers to shift from dairy to beef cattle production, since milk and butterfat prices will probably continue to rise relative to beef prices. If labor is available, farmers having beef or dual-purpose cows will add to their income by milking the cows.

Release national yardstick for meal planning

A simple, definite yardstick which any homemaker can follow in planning her meals is now being released with the approval of nutrition authorities throughout the country, announces Miss Julia Outhouse, professor of nutrition, University of Illinois department of home economics. The diet is the culmination of work by the committee on food and nutrition of the National Research Council. Dr. Outhouse is chairman of the state nutrition committee.

The foods designated will provide the recommended allowances of minerals, vitamins and calories thought necessary to keep every individual healthy and hearty.

"If these foods are served every day, homemakers will not need to become confused or worried about milligrams of this and units of that nutrient," Miss Outhouse said.

To measure up to the yardstick, the sum total of the three meals a day must provide:

At least one pint of milk for each adult; 1 1/2 pints to one quart of milk for each child.

At least one serving of meat to each person.

At least two servings of vegetables with one of these a green or yellow vegetable.

At least two servings of fruit, with one of these a citrus fruit or tomatoes, and the other such fruit as apples or prunes.

At least 10 to 500 calories of butter or fortified margarine.

In addition to these essential foods, the meals should be amplified with one or more servings of potatoes, with breads and cereals at least half of which are whole grain or "enriched" and with sugars and fats to complete the calories requirement.

Leaves, carotene are saved by new hay-drying system

A recently developed system of drying hay in the barn by blowing air up through it makes it possible to put hay into the mow when it is slightly damp, assuring the saving of a high percentage of the leaves and carotene, according to dairy specialists of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The most valuable feature of this method of drying hay, believe W. B. Nevens, professor of dairy cattle feeding, and K. E. Harshbarger, assistant in dairy production, is the removal of the last portion of moisture, which, if removed in the field, means losing leaves and carotene. On the other hand, if the moisture is not removed, it reduces the keeping quality of the hay.

No artificial heat is used in the system. Cost of current to operate the blower, at 3 cents a kilowatt-hour, is from 25 to 50 cents a ton. Estimated cost of installing the equipment in a hay mow holding 20 tons of loose hay is about $300. The hay is wilted four to six hours before it is stored in the barn. At this stage, it contains as much as 50 per cent moisture. In 7 to 10 days after the hay is put in the barn, the moisture content is reduced to 20 per cent.

Poole tells Public of lower used car prices

George C. Poole, Inc., Ford-Mercury-Zephyr dealer at 320 West Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, announces another record breaking used car attraction this week with lower prices on all models. This is the second gigantic used car selling staged by Poole in the last 60 days and is expected to attract the public eye as no other sale of this kind has done. The complete story of the event will be found on the used car page, section 2, of this issue.

Anticipating the increase in used car prices because of the growing costs of business operation and possible new and heavy taxes, Poole has cut the prices on his entire stock and is urging the public to buy now and save real money. He also points out that with the uncertainties existing in the automotive field today which will soon operate under a restricted quota system, a shortage in the better grade used cars seems inevitable. Quality used cars are going to command higher prices, he says.

Under the Poole purchase plan, every used car is guaranteed in writing. No down payment is necessary and the first payment does not have to be made until October 1. The Poole organization are known as high trailers and are always ready to make a deal, whether it be for car or truck, late or old model.

Water tower O.K.; inspection shows it's sound

About the best news that the Palatine billage board heard at their meeting Monday night was that the water tower is in good condition and all that is needed to keep it so is a good painting inside and out.

Wild rumors had been flying around town last week to the effect that a new water tower would be needed, that this one was leaking and what not.

These rumors started floating around when the company employed to clean the tank began talking about making some extensive repairs on it.

But before ordering a lot of repairs the board called upon the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company, who were the builders of the water tower, to make an inspection and this inspection showed the tank in good condition but in need of a good painting both inside and out.

The board put in a quiet evening listening to routine reports, passing bills, hearing representations about the condition of some of the subdivision roads from some of the residents of those areas and in discussing various matters of policy and village business in general.

President Wm. H. DePue being absent on his vacation, trustee Martin E. Plate was elected by his colleagues as the presiding officer of the meeting.

The most important business of the meeting was the passage of the Annual tax levy ordinance for the current fiscal year.

This ordinance calls for the levy of $21,510.00 for the current year. Besides various amounts for general corporate purposes the levy calls for $5,700.00 for bonds and interest on the village's refunding bonds and $3,125.00 for interest on the new judgment funding bond issue.

Glenview Days August 23 - 24

The 24th anniversary of "Glenview Days" will be celebrated this year on Saturday and Sunday, August 23 and 24, on the grounds opposite the civic building. This annual event sponsored by the Glenview chamber of commerce should attract larger crowds this year as many new families have come to make Glenview their permanent homes. In July, thirty-four building permits were issued for homes, totalling $310,000, and for the first seven months of 1941 permits have been issued for 105 homes, totalling $958,105. This does not include permits for business property or building alterations.

Each year new attractions are added for the entertainment of adults and children, and this year a water fight will be staged Sunday afternoon, featuring fire companies of Northbrook, Morton Grove, Park Ridge and Glenview. This water fight never fails to please everyone in attendance. Games and contests, thrilling rides, hamburgers and hot dog stands, a clown band, and a Mardi Gras carnival help to make these days worth while attending.

Music for dancing each evening will be furnished by Earl Fredrichs and his 12 piece orchestra, and concerts each afternoon will be given by the Glenview civic orchestra under the direction of Jesse V. Stevens.

The Parent-Teachers association will again be in charge of the cafeteria. Frank Rugen is chairman of the "Glenview Days" committee. L. W. Coons and Owen Barber are vice-chairmen. O. J. Lamberg is secretary. The sub-committee chairmen are:

Finance, Edwan F. Rugen. Program, Ralph P. Perdue. Publicity, E. F. Walbaum. Concessions, Owen Barber. Electricity, Judd Lynn. Dancing, W. F. Hagen. Games and contests, Ruth Van Steenberg. Registration, Arthur Allen. Police, R. J. Gould. Parking, Henry Lohmann. Construction, Walter Henricks.

The Palatine township high school board at a meeting last Thursday evening held the annual public hearing on the proposed budget for the current fiscal year, approved the budget and also passed their annual tax levy ordinance.

The school board had gone to considerable detail in filling a large black board with the figures of the proposed budget showing where the money was to be used and where it was expected to come from.

This detail was to be used in explaining the budget at the public hearing, but when the public hearing was called to order, for the second year in succession, the only ordinance was one lonely reporter, so the public hearing was quickly adjourned and the budget was passed.

The budget for the current fiscal year calls for a possible expenditure of $36,860.00 from the educational fund and $18,650.00 from the building fund as a total budget of $55,510.00.

Some of the items listed in the budget are salary of superintendent, $3,475.00; Teachers' salaries, $19,400.00; salary of office employee, $770.00, high schools share of school treasurers office expense, $600.00; supplies, $800; library, $500; tuition paid to other districts, $135; salaries of janitors, $2,250; supplies for janitors, $325; fuel, water, light & power, $2,450; bonds and interest, $15,000.00; special assessment, $1,500.00 and many other miscellaneous items.

Lions Club news

The Prospect Heights Lions club will meet Wednesday evening, Aug. 13th at 6:30 o'clock at Simson's restaurant, Rand and Euclid Roads.

We were erroneously informed that the meeting was to take place this week. We are sorry and hope it doesn't happen again.

The Prospect Home is steadily increasing in paid admissions, we are happy to state, and the tickets are doing very well too. If you haven't received yours as yet or wish to have some more please get in touch with any Lions member.

Mrs. Skibbe, mother of Mrs. J. Burch, was pleasantly surprised when her daughter had a luncheon in her honor last Friday, with many friends and relatives in attendance to celebrate Mrs. Skibbe's birthday.

Miss Joyce Williams has had as her house guest for the past two weeks, Miss Virginia Hanke of Chicago.

Boy Scout troop being formed

Mr. Russell Daniels, chairman of the Boy Scouts of Prospect Heights movement, and representative of the Prospect Heights Lions Club announces that there will be an organization meeting at his home, 6 S. Parkway Ave., Friday evening, Aug. 8th (this evening). Boy Scout District Commissioner, Mr. Rosenthal of Des Plaines will outline the plans for organization to the committee of Prospect Heights. The members of this committee are Messrs. Harold Lamb, Frank Portman, Fred Jungbluth, and George Sheppard.

Boys of Prospect Heights and this school district 12 years or over are cordially invited to become charter members of this Boy Scout troop. Any boy who is of age and wishes to become a Scout should get in touch with any of the above mentioned men. Parents should encourage their youths to join such a worthwhile organization.

The scoutmaster and leaders of the Prospect Heights troop shall be announced next week, already there are about 16 boys lined up for membership.

The Boy Scouts of Prospect Heights are being sponsored jointly by the Prospect Heights Lions Club and the Prospect Heights Improvement Association.

The Safety Council met at the home of Mr. Chas. Darfler on Monday evening of this week. This group of civic minded persons will have many things of interest for the community in the near future and we shall try to keep you informed of just what they are doing in the way of safety measures for our community. Monday evening a few of the members were absent due to vacations, but they hope for a perfect attendance at their next meeting.

A change in the game code provides that the squirrel season in the northerly zone extends from Sept. 1, until Nov. 15, instead of opening Aug. 1st, as last year. Another change is the "kill card" attached to each license, and bearing the license number, upon which each hunter is required to make a report. "People vs. Dr. Kildare" offers top entertainment

Medical mystery and a dramatic lawsuit figure in the latest adventure of young Dr. Kildare, in "The People vs. Dr. Kildare," showing at the Palatine theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday with Lew Ayres as the young doctor in quite the toughest "spot" he has ever been in. The dramatic story revolves about a malpractice suit and medical detective work that solves the problem.

Joan Leslie, leading woman with Humphrey Bogart in "High Sierra," and with Bogart and Edie Albert in "The Wagons Roll at Night," celebrated her 16th birthday on Jan. 26, 1941. Miss Leslie is a new featured player who is one of the "finds" of 1940, on the Warner Bros. contract list and is scheduled for several of that studio's biggest new productions. The "Wagons Roll at Night" is co-featured with "People vs. Dr. Kildare."

Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas come to the screen this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in what has been hailed as one of the merriest matrimonial melees in years, Columbia's "This Thing Called Love." The hectic new comedy was directed by Alexander Hall, and the cast includes Binnie Barnes, Allyn Joslyn, Gloria Dickson, Gloria Holden, Lee J. Cobb, Paul McGrath and Don Beddoe.

"Great Dictator" at Des Plaines Sunday

Charlie Chaplin's greatest comedy hit, one of the most widely discussed films of the year, will open on Sunday at the air-conditioned Des Plaines theatre for a four-day run. Prominent in the cast of this great film are such fun-makers as Paulette Goddard, Jack Oakie, Reginald Gardner, Billy Gilbert and many others.

Currently showing at the Des Plaines theatre, and finishing a three-day run on Saturday, are "The Cowboy and the Blonde" with George Montgomery and Mary Beth Hughes, also "I'll Wait for You" featuring Robert Sterling, Marsha Hunt, Paul Kelly and Virginia Weidler.

Heidorn's Prove Gaare's Jinx Again; Meet CYO For First Half Final

Studebakers lose 4-2; commit 3 errors

Heidorn's Sweet Shoppers eliminated Gaare's Studebakers from the first-round play-offs Sunday night in a tight ball game by a score of 4 to 2. The winners will meet CYO this Friday night in the final game of the series. Winner of this game will qualify for the championship series to be played immediately after the close of the regular season. The last game of the schedule falls on Thursday, August 14.

Steve Urlick stopped the Gaare hitters with three hits and two walks. He had remarkable support and was in trouble only in the final inning when Hertil tripled with two on and two out. Enjoying a four-run lead at the time, he was able to pull out of the jam safely.

Heidorn scored their first run in the second when Ray Meyer hit a long ball to left-field. Paul Tossman lost the ball in the sun. It hit him in the shoulder and bounced off for three bases. Harold Koelling drove Meyer in with a ground ball which slipped thru the infield just out of reach of Kehe.

Gay singled in the third with two out but was forced by Frank Brodman. Wulbecker, leading Heidorn slugger, singled to start the third and went to third when the ball got away from Wolf in Center field. He stayed there while Meyer flied to short left, Ken Koelling took a third strike, and H. Koelling bounced to Garms at third.

The fifth inning won the ball game for Heidorn, contrary to their usual custom of losing it. Then, Urlick walked, Luehring singled and Doyle forced Urlick at third. Nick fouled half a dozen pitches and finally hit to left field to drive in two runs. Gay flied to short-center, and Frank Brodman was safe when Hertil dropped an easy toss at first base. However, no more damage was done as Wulbecker popped to Hertil for the third out.

In the sixth Ray Meyer scratched a single off Irv Kehe's glove, the third such Heidorn hit, and was forced by Ken. Koelling. H. Koelling walked and Urlick grounded sharply to Kehe. Kehe's throw to Garms at third resulted only in a brief argument when the umpire ruled the runner safe. Koelling then scored on Luehring's short fly to the outfield. Doyle popped up to first base.

Gaare had a chance in the sixth when Szasz, subbing for the injured Bubitz, walked. Wolf reached for a slow ball and hit a little pop-up which Urlick was able to reach and turn into a double play by a quick throw to Koelling at first base. With one out in the seventh, Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights Two-light Golf League

There was a lot of fancy shooting on the July 31st matches, and as a result the standings were changed as follows:

Paddock Printers, 57½.
Emerald Cleaners, 56½.
Poole Fords, 54.
Eddie's Castle Bar, 53.
Knaack Buicks, 51.
Winkelman's Tires, 48.
Arlington Chevrolet, 43.
Neumann Barbers, 41.
Willson Realtors, 39.
Arl. Hts. Natl. Bank, 38.
Meyer Plymouths, 38.
Dreyer Electric, 36.

The Paddock Printers shot the Emerald Cleaners out of first place, and the Poole Fords displaced Eddie's Castle Bar from 3rd, while Knaack Buicks dropped to fifth. James Cooke, shooting for Meyer Plymouths was the star, turning in a 1 over par — 36. Bob Schuler of Emerald Cleaners won second low gross, with Henry Kehe, Bob Nilleson, and Bert Pate, sharing honors with 39s. The play as a whole was very unsatisfactory due to the lack of absent team members, notifying the secretary in advance so that alternates may be secured.

Please notify the secretary, Marshall R. Sherrill, at least 2 or 3 days in advance if you know you cannot attend the matches.

Pine Most Used
Yellow pine is the most widely used lumber in the United States.

Corn Laws
Corn laws, in English history, were heavy duties on grain imports.

Garms got the second Gaare hit of the game. Kehe walked and Tossman flied deep to center. It took a fine play to make the out. Hertil blasted a triple to right center, driving in two runs, but Saadey was thrown out from deep short on a good play by Charlie Nick.

Each pitcher walked two men. Heidorn made six.

These teams meet again this coming Sunday evening in a second-round game which was postponed several weeks ago. Heidorn has beaten Gaare twice, once 2-1 and this time 4-2. The game should be another thriller. Heidorn's have nothing to lose, being already knocked out of the second round battle, Gaare leading the pack in the second round, must win to stay ahead.

The CYO-Heidorn game on Friday night of this week and the CYO-Iroquois game next week on Friday will be equally tense. Fans have plenty of thrills in store for them during these last two weeks of the season. After these games are over, the "world series" for the 1941 championship can begin.

Chicagoan enters hall of fame with hole-in-one at Arlington Golf & Country Club

Arlington Golf and Country Club's 170-yard 12th hole is anything but a set-up, being appropriately trapped on each side. Despite these two yawning hazards C. R. Sproule of 4314 W. Maypole Street, Chicago, bravely stepped up to the tee last Sunday and proceeded to lay into a 4-iron. The pellet took off in typical pro-style, well hit and down the center. The ball landed just in front of the green, rolled towards the pin and then trickled neatly into the cup for a perfectly executed shot. Yes, Mr. Sproule jumped into the air with joy. Your display of emotion was conservative, Mr. Sproule. We would have leaped to the moon. Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Cusack, co-managers of the Arlington Golf and Country Club, situated two and one-half miles northeast of Arlington Heights on Dundee road, are enjoying their fifth season at the club. Mr. Cusack informs this department that 5,000 trees and shrubs have been planted during the last five years. Every effort possible is being made to make Arlington a beautiful layout. The greens rank with the best in the district. Our next stop on our tour of local golf courses will be Mt Prospect Golf Club, the home of twilight golf leagues.

Seeks Second Distance Crown

This is Shot Put, 1940 American distance champion. Owned by Mrs. Marie Evans of Chicago, Shot Put is now at Washington Park, Chicago, for the series of long distance races to be run there every Wednesday for the next five weeks. Shot Put started his championship campaign at the Homewood course last summer and wound it up with a victory in the $50,000 New York Handicap. The Washington Park races range from two miles up to the Great Western handicap at two and one-half miles. They are popular with the patrons and provide the Wednesday afternoon throngs with many a thrill as the horses and riders display their courage and stamina in the long battle around the Washington Park mile and one-eighth track.

Jalopy racing to skip one week for track repairs

Continuing his winning streak by coming home in front in an elimination heat and in the feature event of the afternoon last Sunday on the Griswold Bowl oval at Wauconda, Leonard Kranz of Arlington Heights added another 400 points to his lead in the points standings for the trophy given to the championship jalopy driver of Northern Illinois.

Al Walkanoff, the North Chicago speed demon, pressed Kranz for the lead in the ten lap final event but could not pass the speedy Reyer special driven by the Arlington lead. A close finish for third place money between Art McKenry and Art Dittmann, of Elgin, resulted in a victory for the McKenry driver as he went over the finish line not more than a foot ahead of Dittmann's car.

An accident in the second race caused the spectators to jump to their feet and gave them a few anxious moments. Rounding the water hole turn, Henry Finkler, Jr., of Chicago, driving a number 13 Jalopy, skidded and blocked the track momentarily. Racing immediately behind Finkler, Pewee Hauth of North Chicago could not avoid the twisting car and crashed into it, causing the auto to roll over. Before the ambulance could reach the accident, Finkler walked away from the wreckage and asked track officials the results of the race.

The winning and second place drivers in the elimination heats were Kranz and Bill Bedard, Wauconda; first race; Dittmann and McKenry, second race; Walter Olsen, Barrington, and Bud Pasley, Deerfield, third race; and Walkanoff and Hap Velder, Crystal Lake, fourth race.

Racing officials have announced that there will not be a race next Sunday at the Wauconda oval, since extensive repairs will be made on the track and the work cannot be completed until the following week. The next afternoon of racing at Griswold Bowl will be on Sunday, August 17, starting at 2 p. m. Although Kranz added to his point total, Walkanoff picked up 275 markers to strengthen his hold on second place. Art Dittmann of Elgin moved into the fourth passing Granssee who was idle Sunday. The standings of the leading drivers are as follows:

Kranz, Arlington Heights	1675
Walkanoff, North Chicago	1050
Waterman, Barrington	450
Dittmann, Elgin	400
Granssee, Waukegan	325
Witt, McKenry	275
Heinemann, Arlington Heights	275
Hauth, North Chicago	250
Wilson, Highwood	250
Hertil, Deerfield	200
Velder, Crystal Lake	200

Fuses Not Needed
A low-cost circuit breaker is now available for residential use. There are no parts to replace after an overload or short circuit. Simply move the lever to restore the current. The breaker is trip free, which means that it cannot be held closed on a short circuit or overload. The position of the strong bakelite handle clearly indicates whether the breaker is "on," "off" or "tripped." It is absolutely safe as no live parts are exposed even when resetting the breaker after it has tripped.
